

Llamas vs Alpacas

Llama

Llamas have been domesticated and used as pack animals by the andean people of South America for centuries.

Alpaca

Facts

- Llamas are bigger than alpacas. Llamas can also weight 400lbs and alpacas 120-150lbs.
- Alpacas have a blunt face with more hair on the face and llamas have an extended nose.
- Llamas are about a foot taller than alpacas. Llamas 48 inches at the shoulder and alpacas reach only about 36 inches at the shoulder.
- The alpaca has straight ears, and the llama has a banana shaped, curved looking ear.
- Alpacas have shaggy softer hair and the llama's hair is coarser.

Alpacas are not meant to be working animals, but rather bred for their wool.

Matthew 11:28

"Come to Me, all who are weary and heavy-laden, and I will give you rest."
